A Dishonest Drummer Arrested with a Wm. L. Metcalf, a "drummer" for the firm of Friedmann & Lauterjung, cutlery manufacturers, New York city, was arrested Saturday night by Detectives Raff and Horne. The arrest was due to an examination of pawnshops' returns, which show an unusual number of knives, shears, and other cutlery were put in pawn. The officers traced the goods to Metcaif, who they found registered at the St. Marc Hotel. A telegram was received at the hotel from the firm asking that the goods which Metcaif had in his possession be shipped back, but a search of his room showed that he had parted with everything. Metcaif pawned $250 worth of goods for $30. When arrested he hadn't a cent in his pocket, but the pawn tickets were recovered. He is held on suspicion. manufacturers, New York city, was arrested

"Train Up a Child in the Way He Should Go."

But you can't train him up if he dies before you get him going in the right direction. More than two-thirds of the human race die in infancy, most of them for lack of vital power, nervous and muscular force. The infant body, when weak, must be encouraged and strengthened. Dr. Henley's extract of Colery, Beef and Iron, in small does, is the best infant-strengthener in the world and is as valuable to the parent, as to the child. Get the youngster in trim with that, and then you can train him in the way he should go.

Good Condition In his annual report to the chief of engineers, Col. J. M. Wilson commissioner of public buildings and grounds, recommends appropriations as follows for the work under his charge during the fiscal year of 1888; Salaries, $51,100; care, repair, fuel, &c., of executive man-repair, fuel, &c., of executive mansion, $28,000; improvement and care of public grounds, $195,000; lighting public grounds and the white house, $14,000; repairs to water pipes, $2,500, and for work on the telegraph lines, $10,000. The commissioner proposes to relay the old pavement in front of the white house, replace the old wall with another more ornimental and suitable.

He intends to lay an asphalt pavement in Armory square and Seaton park, between Third and Seventh streets; a similar pavement in front of the Smithanian Institution, between Seventh and Twelfth streets, and asphalt walks in all the amaller parks, where there are now gravel paths. He does not recommend the immediate removal of all the high fron fences around the parks, but while in favor of that plan, he simply recommends the smaller reservations at present with walks through them, in order that a trial may be made of allowing the public free access to these breathing spaces.

His Slander Suit. In answer to the suit for slander brought sgainst Cougressman Geddes by Sarah Zimmerman, in which she claims $30,000 damages, be has made some statements which, doubtless, will appear in his sworn reply. The woman comes from Mansfield, Ohio, which is the home of Mr. Geddes as well as Senator Sherman, and has been making life very unhappy for the congressman for several months, insisting upon his finding a place for her in one of the departments, and loaning her money enough to live until she got it. He has declined to have anything to do with her, has refused to give her any assistance, and has warned people against her as an impostor and blackmaller. Mr. Geddes says that the suit was brought to extort money from him, but would not succeed. He supposed he could settle it for a few dollars, but should decline to do so. The same woman has tried to blackmall him at home, and had brought a suit sgainst him in Mansfeld, which the jury decided in his favor without leaving the box. As he was about to leave this city, and the political campaign was coming on, she thought that she could annoy him enough to bring him to terms, but she would find herself mistaken. The woman nor her lawyers would never get their hands on any of his money by any means. which, doubtless, will appear in his sworn Another Landmark to Disappear. On the west side of Ninth street, between Pennsylvania avenue and D street, stands an old building, very dilapidated now, and about old building, very dilapidated now, and about to give place to a worthier successor. Here, recently and for many years, was Fulton's pawnbrokering establishment; here, dating from a previous antiquity, the NATIONAL REPUBLICAN spent part of its early career. After a few sensons of hard-struggling existence in its dingy dwelling, it emigrated to its present site, but not its present palatial edifice; a little, lew building, one of a row similar, received it, just on the corner of D and Tenth streets. The then proprietor of edifice; a little, lew building, one or a row similar, received it, just on the corner of D and Tenth streets. The then proprietor of the journal William J. Muristh, soon there-after erected the grand office on the southwest corner of Fennsylvania avenue and Tairteenth street, intely the pension office, where the paper continued to be issued, with increasing prosperity, through a long period following. Curiously and finally, in all probability, it is back on its ancient ground again, where it be-came so generally and popularly known.

WOODWARD & LOTHROP.

In an evil hour yesterday a promising summer dude put the above question to a hard-working man who had not slept the night before on account of the intense heat,

His "set" are now framing resolutions of condolence, to be sent to his bereaved and sorrowing family. Had the sweet-scented delicate youth, instead of squandering his wealth in the purchase of a single eyeglass, invested in oue of our $1,50 Seersucker Coats and Vests, he would have been oblivious to the heat, and the unfortunate question that led to his untimely taking off would not have occurred to him.

The Coats and Vests we refer to are very handsome indeed, and great bargains at the price.

We have finer qualities also at $2.50 and $2.70, which are just as cheap in proportion, and they are all models of correct style and proper shape.

Our stock of separate Trousers is our strong point just at this time. We have stacks of them in all colors, kinds, and qualities, and ranging in price from $2 up.

Our Boys' and Children's Dapartment has always been our pet hobby. You should see the etyles and prices that obtain there, whether your boys need clothing or not just now. A visit of inspection will be sure to interest you.

We are offering some splendid bargains this week in Gentlemen's Suits, former prices of which were $12, $13.50, and $15, but the lots being now broken you can take your choice for $8. Fact, we assure you.

We make a discount of 10 per cent. on all such seasonable and staple goods as Alpacas, Fougoes, Serges, Drap D'Etes, Diagonals, Corkscrews, Black Cloths. and Blue Flannels.

Dropin at your leisure and look through. A visit does not obligate you to buy.

Something

Has been said, in spite of our appeal to say nothing, about our great and wonderful prices. We have reduced our stock considerably during the past week; the balance, we are sure, will meet the same fate. We are very anxious to close out our entire line of summer goods, and that is why we place such fearful cut rates on them. Our stock is low, and the lower we can get it by Sept. I the better it is for us. New goods of an entire fresh production will then reign in our establishment, and our trade will be delighted. We are going to continue the same as advertised the past week.

Robert Craven, et al., defondants.

On motion of the plaintiff, by Messrs. Perry and Wilson, her solicitors, it is ordered that the defendants, Robert Craven and Cora, his wife; Louis S. Craven and Lois, his wife; Afred E. Craven and Matilda, his wife; Etion T. Craven, Mary C. Thomas, and Charles W. Thomas, her husband, and Marifa, his wife; Etion T. Craven, Mary C. Thomas, and Charles W. Thomas, her husband, and Marifa L. Craven, cause their appearance to be entered herein on or before the next rule day, occurring forty days after this day; otherwise the cause will be proceeded with as in case of default. The object of this mut is to enjoic the defendants from setting up any claim of title to the property described particularly in the bill filed therein, being the same which was conveyed to Tunis Craven, deceased, by Archibaid Henderson and othern on the 18th day of June, 1837, the plaintiff alleging that the defendants are estopped from making any such claim. Further, it is ordered that the publication of this order be made twice a week for three successive weeks in toome newspaper other than in addition to the Washington Law Reporter, of general circuistion, printed sand, published in the city of Washington, District aforesaid.
